

BIANCA CASADY

PLAYER

2007 was a banner year for Casady, the queer half of freak-folk duo CocoRosie. Two months after they received a standing ovation for their performance in David Byrne's "Perspective" series at Carnegie Hall, she and her sister, Sierra, released their acclaimed third album, The Adventures of Ghostface and Stillborn. Playing with gender, she sported a moustache for the music video for "Rainbowarriors" and the album's cover, designed by celebrated gay artists Pierre et Gilles. The talented vocalist, who also has her own art gallery and music label (Voodoo Eros), hosted her multimedia exhibit "Lil' Girl Slim 'Cosmic Willingness' Pipe Dreamz a Revelation" at New York City's Deitch Projects in October.
